The wedding on Monday night will be a grand affair.

The Unknowns and Kamehamehas play ball this afternoon.

Nigel Jackson is a walking advertisement for the Seattle flour.

A big picnic has been arranged for to-morrow. More is wanted.

Jim Thompson will not play with the Unknowns to-day. He is laid up.

The Ki au arrived yesterday afternoon with a very large passenger list.

A. M. Brown, Deputy Marshal is around; as genial and attentive to business as ever.

The dance which was to be given by the Misses Hartwell this evening has been postponed.

H. M. Dow, clerk to the Marshal, has had to be home on account of illness. The office misses him.

The many friends of Robert More were pleased to see his genial face and rotund form around town again.

Deputy Attorney-General A. M. Brown returned in the Kinau from Hamakua where he has attended Court.

Mr. Bailestine of the Victoria-Castle combine, is writing communications to the Advertiser. They are published!!

The Eleanor arrived in Hilo on Wednesday. The Slater party visited the volcano and will proceed to San Francisco to-day.

W. R. Castle is packing his trunks—and credentials. Letters of introduction from prominent men here are not numerous.

The building obstructing Alakea street has moved on. Residents of the street can now reach their home without swearing off.

A fine line of Dress Hats and Bonnets. Also a full line of Kid Gloves, for the reception, can be found at Sachs', 520 Fort street.

The Time is out and fully up to its usual standard. The "Swelled Head of the C. J." is the subject of a very good illustration.

The Lei Hula dance at the Independence Park in honor of Mr. J. F. Humburg was largely attended and was a pronounced success.

Business in police circles is getting so slack that the Marshal says he will have to discharge some of his hands if it doesn't pay better.

Don't forget the excursion trip to Waianae to-morrow. The trip costs only $1.75 and $1.25. You will get more than value for your money.

Mrs. F. M. Hatch gave a very pleasant card party at her residence last evening. The guests indulged in a little dancing later in the evening.

Mr. John Eoa and family left for Hawaii in the Hall yesterday. Mr. Eoa has been suffering from the grippe and will try a change of climate.

Captain Robert Parker has returned the barge Hanakeek to its owner and the barge race will consequently not come off this afternoon.

J. A. Mehtens, who has been seriously ill, left with his family for Lahaina yesterday. Hope you'll come back thoroughly restored, Jack.

The President and the Marshal were down to Pearl Lochs vouching this afternoon. Luther Wilcox is responsible for the safety of the party.

Ladies who want to dress well should call at L. B. Kerr's store and inspect his dress goods. The silk striped challies are the prettiest ever seen in Honolulu.

Gentlemen! Look out for Sachs' clearance sale, as he is going out of the gent's furnishing business, his whole stock of gent's wear will be offered regardless of cost.

The political prisoners who have been working near Hilo, and who were pardoned on the Fourth, returned to town by the Kinau and were welcomed home by friends and relations.

A Christian church will be built on Alakea street next to J. Hopp's residence. The former building occupying the site took quite a while to remove and blocked the streets and street cars for a day.

L. B. Kerr has opened a large invoice of flowers and feathers for trimming of hats. The flowers are of the finest quality and look perfectly natural. The feathers can be obtained in many different variety.

The display of ladies' hats at L. B. Kerr's show rooms on Queen street is drawing a large crowd. The variety in shapes and fashions is unequalled in Honolulu. The prices bring the hats within the reach of all.

Yesterday a young native lad while climbing a monkey pod tree at Makaahoe fell, owing to a branch breaking, from a height of fourteen feet to the ground. The result was a broken back. His relatives are attending to him, at home not sending him to the hospital.

CORRESPONDENCE.

EDITOR INDEPENDENT—

The following from an exchange tells the story so truthfully with regard to Protestantism in this country as well as abroad, more especially during the last three years, that we think it should be published for the benefit of those most concerned in our churchianity:

Rev. Thomas Dixon created something of a sensation by a sermon at the Academy of music in New York on a recent Sunday, in which he pronounced "Protestantism in New York a colossal failure." "At present," he declared, "the majority of churches in the city are doing nothing, but are a positive hindrance to the progress of Christianity, and are repudiated by the Spirit of Christ. They are an incubance on the face of the earth, a plague to the advancement of truth, because they are, as Christ says in the gospel, neither hot nor cold." As an illustration he pointed out that the Baptists in the last 20 years had actually lost 2,050 members, though 15,000 children have been born into that faith in the meantime. And he went on: "The combined wealth of the Baptist, Presbyterian and Methodist churches here is $16,000,000. There are in these churches the brainiest men of the age, and yet they are not holding their own. They are cursed, because they are only maintaining the traditions of a dead past. Their machinery is so much sacred junk, holy junk to be sure, but junk all the same that should be put up at auction and sold to the highest and best bidder. What the people want is a new church, a church that will be popular, a church that will reach the masses, and that is what the churches of New York are at the present time are trying to avoid. Ninety percent of the population of New York are tenants, the remainder landlords. The churches of to day are trying to catch the 10 percent and let the 90 percent go by the board."

It may be difficult for a rich man to get into the kingdom of heaven, but it's mighty easy for him to get the best seat in the church.

How to Keep Hens Profitable.

It does not seem as though it would be necessary to refer so often to poultry for profit to one who can average 175 eggs a year from each hen; but when we look at the average in this State, which is less than four dozen a hen, while some get 20, it looks as though some one was keeping hens at a loss.

I will give an experience of mine with hens for five years. I have lived considerably in the woods, and know how fowls and animals live according to nature. I started on a small farm, twenty-five acres, with twenty-five just such hens as many farmers have, the sort called dunghills. I got them to laying, and for five years had eggs every day.

I started in the winter with 200 old and young. Found I had more stock than room—a bad fault, for I had more trouble in the next four months than I had in the following four years with the four principal diseases of the hen in captivity—cholera, roup, lice, and diarrhoea. Here is my prescription for these troubles—more room, healthy food, and at the first sight of disease, for cholera give one teaspoonful of carbolic acid in a gallon of water; diarrhoea, one teaspoonful of tincture of Jamaica ginger in a gallon of water; for lice, one teaspoonful sulphur in four quarts feed or mash; for roup, mix boracic acid with water so it can be poured down the throat; give teaspoonful and they will be cured.

As a result of these discoveries I had fresh eggs every day and supplied a line of customers every week in five years besides supplying my best customer, myself. During the two years 1891 and 1892, I don't think I had one hen that laid fewer than 175 eggs each year at a cost of 75 cents a hen, the price ranging from 12 to 35 cents a dozen. They hatched the last year 97 percent of all eggs set.—Country Gentleman.

Sans Souci.

The most lovely spot on Oahu is Sans Souci. This favorite seaside resort, which has been immortalized by the pen of Robert L. Stevenson, who resided there for months, is only four miles from Honolulu and within easy reach of the tramcars. The surroundings and bathing at this famous resort are superior to anything found in the Hawaiian Islands. Cottages and board can be obtained on easy terms. The table set by the manager is better than any offered here at other hotels. For picnics, bathing parties and outings the best accommodation can be secured by giving notice to the manager.

Our Sleuths.

Gus Cordes and George Sea armed with search warrants entered a room back of the Co-mopolitan restaurant, where for some reason or other, they expected to find a few tons of opium. They found the dope—in a horn. No arrests were made.
